

BRIDGING CULTURAL AND SOCIAL BARRIERS CREATED THROUGH DIVISIVE AND TRIBAL POLITICS THROUGH COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT: A CASE STUDY OF THE STAR CHORALE

The world as described by Gandhi is said to be a home to all kinds of persons. This inhabitants of the world are divided by water and land chiefly. However there are other divisions which include customs, believes, habits, religion, language, cultures, and political stands. Gandhi goes on to state that our hearts and minds work in a similar manner. When we are unexpectedly submitted to emotions we tend to respond in form of hate or love. This emotions are the foundation of all this world is about

Primary author: OMULLO, Kelvin (Kenyatta University)

Co-authors: O. SHITANDI, Wilson (Kabarak University); ETALE , Derick (Kenyatta University)

Session Classification: Performing Arts and Society

Track Classification: Performing Arts and Society